I'm Sean Munger.

I help business leaders see the wave of societal-level change that's about to hit them, so they can future-proof their businesses and ensure their survival.

The wave is driven primarily by climate change, but it's much bigger than that.

My study of history was like being handed a pair of magic glasses, through which I could see the shape of change. The past is filled with examples of how companies, institutions and societies have dealt with large-scale change...not always successfully.

My years as a transactional lawyer taught me to speak the language of business, and my years of teaching and writing means I know how to communicate this knowledge to you.
